Brand New Book  Print on Demand .Excerpt from Obed Owlter and the Prize Writers Common wooden chairs; a table that readily falls apart, over which is spread a cloth; a stove without a fire. Mr. and Mrs. Scudder in the plain neat dress of the backwood s farmer and wife of middle age. Mrs. Scudder (looking through the window). Ebenezer Scudder, just look here and see if you can make out what team that is coming up the road. Ain t that Mehitable Jane? And that feller drivin is Sam Smasher sure as I m livin . What have they in the gig? Loaded down with her toggery, no doubt. I do wish she would be more sensible and not spend all her money for gewgaws. Only see the streamers and the flourishings! Gay as a peacock! Mr. Scud. (good-naturedly). Come, come, Deborah, don t be too hard on Hitty. She ll be all right after a while. Tis a high-flyin age with her, and girls most allays think lots of dress. I dare say you did at her age. What a pretty...
