Excerpt: .books.--The principal books used by a gas company are: (1) The cash book; (2) the general ledger; (3) the purchase book or invoice register; and (4) the consumer s ledger, which is a combination of the sales book and accounts receivable ledger. 156. General ledger.--For the present we will pass over the cash book and take up the general ledger. In this book are carried a great variety of accounts which include those dealing with the expense of operation as well as the stereotyped financial accounts found in all corporations. We need only give detailed attention to the former class of accounts. The expense accounts which are carried in the general ledger must follow closely the processes of manufacturing, for their purpose is to reflect accurately the cost of manufacturing i As an aid to the study of gas accounting it is worth while to...
